

Isolate the affected workstation from the network
Collect volatile memory and a full disk image
Notify the security lead and the system owner
Reset credentials for every account used on the host
Document all actions taken with timestamps